Who We Are

Through our consulting, training, and educational programs facilitated in-person or virtually, we foster effective communication in ways that equip decision-makers with the tools to address systemic discrimination and other barriers to inclusion.

We Speak To

Newcomers. HR Professionals. Educational Institutions. Public and Private Organizations. Community Leaders. Corporate and Public Sector Executives

"...attending this training definitely made me recognize some of my biases and how I need to be consciously aware of the decisions I make every day".

Karen Hachey, RBC Branch Manager

"...an engaging, informative, and profound learning experience...I look forward to offering future students this learning opportunity yearly.
